

view site

DiPrato's Delicatessen

<http://www.dipratos.com>

Clean and simple design emphasizing the delicious offerings of this popular Columbia, SC restaurant. Warm, inviting and complete with a selection of subtle opening animations.

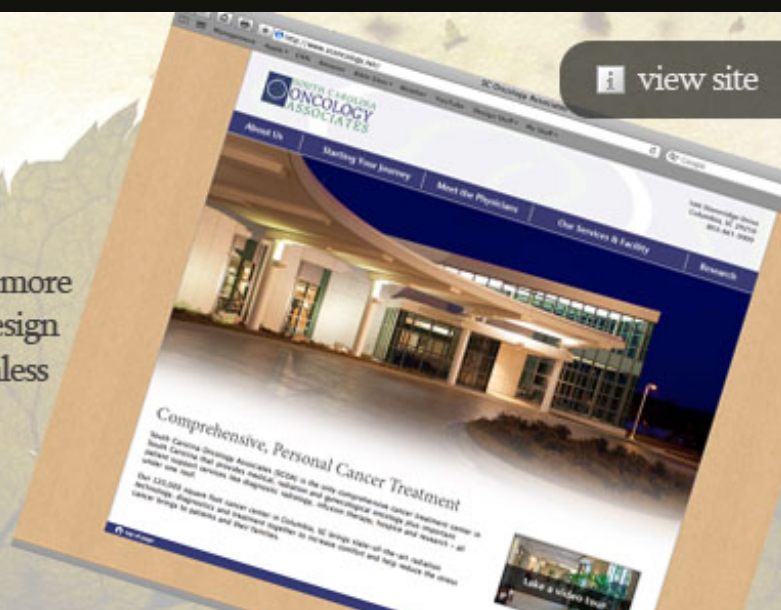

Ad

Ad

SC Oncology Associates

<http://www.sconcology.net>

"My experience with 18th Street Design more than surpassed my expectations. From design to implementation, the process was seamless as I was able to rely on 18th Street for creative suggestions as well as prompt turnaround from them."

Riverland Hills Baptist

<http://www.riverlandhills.org>

"Their guidance, cooperation, leadership and knowledge has been superb in assisting us with the production of our web site. I feel very comfortable in recommending 18th Street Design for your next or new web site."

Cornerstone of Recovery

<http://www.cornerstoneofrecovery.com>

"Featuring an inviting and colorful new re-design following the client's existing marketing assets. Also features subtle flash animation throughout the site."

High Contrast Studios

<http://www.highcontraststudios.com>

"We could not be more excited about the clean, contemporary style of our new web site. Working with your firm was a joy and we look forward to future projects."

web site design, columbia sc

we understand fine design

press releases

18th Street Design is the web design work of Jay C. Wingard, a SC based new media designer specializing in web design, multimedia and music composition. Jay's web designs are known for their classic and sophisticated simplicity and his music compositions have been featured on several radio and television stations.

With an office conveniently located in the historic downtown Vista district in Columbia, Jay offers his services to all size businesses and organizations.

Defining New Media™

Moses, Koon and Brackett, PC signs with 18th Street for web re-design

18th Street featured in March edition of the Columbia Business Monthly magazine

SC Employment Security Commission selects 18th Street for new web presence

Lexington County Public Library signs for site re-design and enhancements